Alignment, Vibration Analysis and Balancing Training

With over 30 years experience, Advanced Maintenance Solutions is uniquely qualified to train your personnel.

AMS Training classes are conducted by service personnel, not by someone trying to sell you more equipment.

We know how the alignment equipment REALLY Works...not just how to give a demonstration for 8 hours!

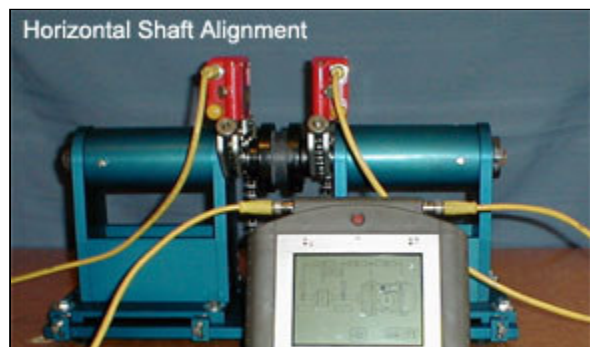

Our experience covers virtually all of the alignment products available today... Dial Indicators, Single Laser Measurement Systems, Reflected Beam Measurement Systems and Dual Laser Measurement Systems. We also offer non-product specific alignment training.

Quite Simply...we teach alignment!

We believe that proper use of an alignment tool requires a lot more than a short course in "button-ology". Our courses are filled with hands-on training and offer solutions to real world problems.

Of course, the word "Alignment" covers a lot of ground. Advanced Maintenance Solutions is proud to offer beginner and advanced courses in: Geometric Measurement, Roll Parallel, Straightness, Flatness, Bearing Centering and Extruder Barrel Alignment. Training courses can be tailored to your needs and specific to your equipment, if desired.

Balancing Training is more than knowing what button to push on the data collector or balancing instrument. Phase Interpretations, weight reactions and Static/Couple reactions are all examples of topics that need to be learned for Balancing Personnel to be effective. If you don't understand balancing, no balancing instrument is going to be very effective.
